

Webull Event Contracts – Voluntary Event Contract Opt-Out Disclosure

Voluntary Event Contract Activity Restriction

Webull may make available a Voluntary Event Contract Activity Opt-Out feature ("Opt-Out Feature") for eligible customers who wish to voluntarily restrict access to Event Contract trading activity within their account for a specified period of time. This feature is intended to serve as a self-directed account management tool to support customer trading preferences and personal risk management objectives.

By electing to utilize the Opt-Out Feature, you acknowledge and agree to the following terms and conditions:

Customer Election: The decision to activate a voluntary Event Contract activity restriction is initiated solely at your direction. By submitting an opt-out request, you are voluntarily requesting that Event Contract trading access within your account be restricted for the selected period.

Upon implementation of an active restriction, your account may be prohibited from initiating new Event Contract positions or increasing existing Event Contract exposure. During the restriction period, Event Contract activity may be limited exclusively to transactions intended to reduce, close, or liquidate existing positions.

Restriction Period: Customers may elect from available restriction periods, as determined and offered by Webull. Once selected and submitted, the requested restriction period will become effective in accordance with Webull operational procedures and processing timelines.

This feature is intended to remain active for the duration selected at the time of election unless otherwise reviewed and administered by Webull.

Existing Positions and Liquidation-Only Trading: Activation of the Opt-Out Feature does not automatically close, liquidate, or otherwise alter existing open Event Contract positions held within your account.

If open Event Contract positions exist at the time the restriction becomes effective, those positions may be placed on a liquidation-only basis. Under a liquidation-only restriction, customers may enter transactions solely for the purpose of reducing or closing existing positions. Customers will not be permitted to establish new Event Contract positions or increase existing Event Contract exposure during the active restriction period.

Customers remain solely responsible for monitoring existing positions and satisfying any obligations related to settlement, expiration, fees, margin requirements, or other account liabilities.

Firm Administration and Removal of Restrictions: While activation of a voluntary opt-out request is self-directed by the customer, administration of an active Event Contract restriction, including implementation, modification, shortening, removal, disabling, or reversal of a restriction, is managed exclusively at the firm level.

Customers may not independently remove or disable an active Event Contract restriction through the Webull application, website, account settings, or other self-service functionality.

Any request to modify, shorten, reverse, or remove an active restriction is subject to review by Webull Compliance, Risk Management, and other applicable control functions. Approval of such requests is not guaranteed and may be delayed, denied, or otherwise subject to additional review procedures at Webull's sole discretion.

Processing and Timing: Webull does not guarantee immediate implementation, modification, or removal of any Event Contract activity restriction. Operational and administrative processing periods may apply. During processing periods, account functionality may not immediately reflect submitted requests.

Customers acknowledge and agree that submitted requests may require review prior to implementation or modification.

No Investment Advice or Suitability Determination: The Opt-Out Feature is an administrative account tool made available for customer convenience and personal account management purposes. Availability or use of this feature does not constitute investment advice, a recommendation, legal advice, or a determination regarding the suitability of Event Contract trading activity for any customer.

Reservation of Rights: Webull reserves the right, at its sole discretion and where permitted by applicable law or regulation, to modify, suspend, deny, limit, discontinue, or impose additional conditions on the Opt-Out Feature at any time and without prior notice.

Webull additionally reserves the right to apply any restrictions, controls, account limitations, or other risk management measures deemed necessary for regulatory, compliance, operational, or business purposes.

By electing to utilize the Voluntary Event Contract Activity Opt-Out Feature, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and agreed to this disclosure and any related terms governing your account and Event Contract activity.