

Futures Account Transition Disclosure and Customer Acknowledgment

By opening and/or maintaining a futures account, you acknowledge that you have received, reviewed, and understand this Transition Disclosure. You further acknowledge that your account will be transferred from Webull Financial LLC to Webull Futures LLC, effective April 25, 2026.

As of the effective date, your account will be governed by the Webull Futures LLC Futures Customer Agreement, as amended from time to time. By continuing to use your account following the transition, you voluntarily consent to this transfer and agree to the applicable terms.

You understand and accept that this transition may involve certain operational changes, including but not limited to updated funding and wiring instructions, potential reauthorization of ACH transfers and linked bank accounts (including acceptance of applicable third-party terms), and temporary limitations or disruptions to trading, funding, withdrawals, or product availability. You also acknowledge that certain open orders may be canceled in connection with the transition.

Your login credentials will remain unchanged; however, your account number will be updated. Historical account activity will remain accessible. For tax reporting purposes, you may receive separate Forms 1099 from Webull Financial LLC and Webull Futures LLC for the 2026 tax year.

Following the transition, your account will be carried by Webull Futures LLC, a registered Futures Commission Merchant and member of the National Futures Association (NFA ID: 0568685), located at 200 Carillon Parkway, 4th Floor, St. Petersburg, Florida 33716, United States, telephone 888-816-0040. Webull Futures LLC will serve as the carrying firm for your event contract account and will be responsible for the custody of funds as well as the clearing and settlement of transactions.
